

EUROPEAN Journal of RHINOLOGY and ALLERGY

Editorial

THE BEGINNING

Dear Colleagues,

As you likely know, scientists in Turkey are making remarkable contributions to the field of rhinology. To utilize this vast knowledge and share it with our colleagues around the world, we have decided to launch a new journal on rhinology, allergy, sleep disorders, and functional and aesthetic surgery of the nose. An editorial board consisting of esteemed specialists from the international rhinology and allergy community has been established. We hope that you too will contribute to and support the European Journal of Rhinology and Allergy (EJRA).

Surely, all journals do not have the same impact and quality. In the health sciences, in addition to a journal's editorial board, indexing of a journal by PubMed and SCI Expanded and having a high Impact Factor compared to other journals in related areas are signs of quality and impact. Thus, we have started the journey to publish EJRA with the goals of becoming a journal that publishes international studies, is indexed by PubMed and SCI Expanded, and has a high Impact Factor in its area.

Manuscripts submitted to EJRA will be evaluated by independent reviewers in accordance with international guidelines and ethical standards. Authors will be provided with a decision as soon as possible. Following a rapid production process, accepted manuscripts will be published online and their DOIs will be deposited to Crossref.

We are confident that the European Journal of Rhinology and Allergy will become a journal of notable impact.

We look forward to your valuable submissions to EJRA in the near future,

Best regards

Metin Önerci
Editor in Chief